District Scout Commissioner Visits

On Wednesday evening, March 26 District Scout Commissioner R. Weeks of Cowley, attended a Scout meeting in the basement of The Salvation Army.

He gave a very interesting talk on Scouting and the Laws of Scouting, teaching the boys a few new tricks to Scouting as well as new knots and rope tying.

Present as visitors were Mrs. R. Crippen, of The Coleman Journal, and Vera Decoux of The Lethbridge Herald; Envoys F. Saunders, Scout Chaplain, Scoutmaster H. Seaman, T. Salus, James Siska, Spencer Dunford, Paul Lantz, and Foss McDonald, President of the Scouts Association, J. Salus; Treasurer, W. Kuback, and Secretary, Mrs. R. Szymanski.

The meeting was opened by Envoys F. Saunders with a prayer. Scoutmaster R. Seaman then introduced the Scouts to Commissioner Weeks, who gave an interesting talk on Scouting and various aspects of their work.

The Scouts took a very deep interest in all he had to tell them.

Cannot Release Dean Cousins For Summer Teaching

(Courtesy Lethbridge Herald)
A request from the University of Alberta to Dean W. J. Cousins asking that he instruct at the university this summer from July 2 to August 15 was referred to the Lethbridge public school board this week and the board decided that it is not prepared to release Dean Cousins from his duties as head of the Lethbridge Junior College, particularly from August 1st because he is needed in Lethbridge to organize the Junior College for the coming school term.

Dean Cousins was wanted as instructor of history eight. Only two other instructors are available in the province, the board was informed, and enrolment in the course requires three instructors.

The board, after considerable discussion, decided Dean Cousins would be needed in organizing Junior College work and that if he were absent for the first two weeks of August, the Junior College might suffer.

Salvation Army News

A group of Soldiers of The Salvation Army travelled to Lethbridge to meet with a group from Lethbridge and Port Macleod branches. Some special guests were present at this meeting—the mayor of Lethbridge, Mr. Shackelford, also the district Lt. General of the Kiwanis Club. These men spoke briefly after which a fine supper was served. Also present were Mr. Major L. Plindred, who is head of our council of war, or our Spiritual Advisor. He spoke on many events in regard to our work. After a short message a panel was set up to discuss The Salvation Army's wide and varying work, and how we can improve in our work every day.

Mr. Major Plindred spoke on the danger of losing sight of Our God in the big wheel in which we each of us have a part to play, but by keeping a firm hand on Our Lord we are able to keep on a steady keel. Our only hope in this world that is moving at a faster pace every day we live, is our hope and trust in Our Lord, who will pilot the soul who allows us just to do this very thing. We have people at our door every day who live in fear, when peace can be ours for the seeking.

Yours friends,
Envoys and Mrs. F. S. Saunders.

Board of Trade Scores Use of Oil For Heating The New Post Office

The regular monthly meeting of the Coleman Board of Trade scored the proposed use of fuel oil for heating purposes in the new Post Office to be erected shortly.

The board sent a letter to the Postal Department, outlining their views on the matter, and pointed out that the use of oil, was much higher in cost than if coal was used.

Figures were given, showing the difference in cost per one million B.T.U. Oil would cost $132 while coal would only cost $12.

The letter also stated that the Board did not appreciate the use of oil as this is a coal town and asked for a revision of policy in regard to the heating arrangements. An expression of thanks was also extended to the department for the green light on the construction of a new post office, as it had been needed for many years.

The matter of a proposed road from Coleman to Waterton Lakes was discussed and it was stated that if this road was built it would open a complete new tourist attraction, with a possible skiing resort equal to Banff being established. A letter had been sent to Prime Minister Diefenbaker in regard to this project, and a reply had been received from his secretary, stating that this letter had been turned over to the Minister of Natural Resources for his action. It was also stated that the Minister would be pleased to hear further comments on this project.

Discussions on this proposed road will be held with Mr. Long of Lethbridge, with the possibility of him using this proposal on his TV program. This matter will be discussed at the Lethbridge Leadership Clinic where it is expected Mr. Long will be in attendance. Mayor P. Abenssaff and the Coleman delegation will attend.

Sponsorship of a banquet for Coleman's victorious hockey team the Coleman Grands, was undertaken by the Board.

Presentation of mementos will also be undertaken by the Board. In charge of details will be W. Holyk, C. Freeman and O. Celli.

Present arrangements will call for this banquet to be open to the public but the price has yet to be decided. A guest speaker will be on hand if at all possible.

A discussion took place in regard to the publicity committee, which proposes to handle the publicity for Coleman activities if they can get co-operation from the various organizations.

It is the intention of the Board to have all local news channelled through their committee and they in turn will release it to the press. The three south daily newspapers and the two local would receive the press releases.

Certain comments were made in regard to the publicity given the Coleman Grands hockey team, and it was felt that the papers had not given them the publicity they deserved, but it was also pointed out that the team itself had not been too co-operative in assisting in its own publicity.

Routine business showed that two signs were to be placed by the overpass providing town council gave permission.

Rev. McAuley requested two canvassers to cover the business district and this matter will be looked after by Mr. J. Salus.

A request from the Crows Nest Pass Band for financial assistance was read and the Board decided to donate $50 towards the hand expenses. The band will also be requested to play some band concerts in the park this summer.

Final business on the agenda was the poor turnout of the Board members as only 13 were in attendance. Arrangements had been made for 18 to attend the supper and it was necessary to pay for these meals from the regular funds.

The catering committee stated that they had to know in advance how many meals to provide and it was difficult for them when those who promised to attend failed to. In future tickets will be sold in advance of the meeting.

Returns Down Reports Show

The Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, reports that mid-way in its annual campaign for funds returns total $132,977 representing 48.6 per cent of the provincial objective of $539,700.

This is approximately $3,000 less than returns for the same period last year.

Campaign returns to date show Calgary donations of $29,791, contributions of $27,204 from southern Alberta points, Edmonton returns of $61,506 and $14,475 from points in northern Alberta.

Coleman Grands Win A.-B.-C.-M. Championship

The Coleman Grands, playing like true champions, came from behind a three-goal deficit in the second period to overcome the Fighting Rangers 8-7 and win the A.-B.-C.-M. League hockey championship in two straight games.

The game opened fast with Fernie counting the first two goals before Coleman could get on the score sheet. Fernie continued to dig and kept Coleman off balance to maintain a 5-2 lead at the end of the first period.

Coleman came out fighting in the second period to score the first goal and narrow the margin to 5-3. Fernie was not to be denied and got another goal to increase their lead to 6-3. Then the roof fell in.

Tarzon stole the puck off a Fernie defence man to narrow the score to 6-4. Getman scored after the Coleman players had peppered the Fernie net for four minutes while Willie Bossio was off for five minutes to make the score 6-5. A minute later Churla drilled a shot through Chambers' legs to tie the score 6-6 as the period ended.

Both teams battled for 10 minutes in the third before Fernie again took the lead 7-6. Coleman came rolling back as Getman scored on a rebound to tie the score 7-7.

Coleman kept pressing and with about a minute and a half remaining Albert Getman, who played an 'outstanding' game scored after beating three Fernie players to give Coleman the lead for the first time and the game.

Coleman scorers were led by Getman with three goals, Churla with two, while singles went to Kevorka, Cerney and Tarzon.

The Coleman players earned full value for their win as they never stopped trying.

The Crows Nest Pass hockey fans also deserve honorable mention as they turned out in full force to cheer the boys on. The Grands fully appreciate the support given by the fans of the Crows Nest Pass to the team and hope they have provided the type of hockey the fans desire.

The Grands have now completed a very successful season, having won both the Alberta Intermediate 'B' championship and the Alberta 'C' - Montana Hockey League title.

Tests Conducted On Alberta Poultry

The second of a series of 500-day Random Sample Tests designed to develop and produce superior strains of poultry in Alberta commenced at the Provincial Poultry Farm at Oliver early in March. Conducted by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the second test includes a total of ten entries from breeders in Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and a control entry from the Dominion Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

the 500-day test periods which cover the span of life from egg to maturity. These are fertility and hatchability, average body weight, sexual maturity, egg production, egg weight, average age at which egg weight reaches 24 ounces per dozen, percentage livability, mortality causes, egg quality, feeding efficiency and income over feed costs.

Ten duplicate test pens are available, nine for entries and one for the control flock which is used as a standard for judging growth and production.

An entry consists of 300 hatching eggs from which officials select a sample of approximately 125 piler chicks at random. Detailed records are kept during the test period.

Shown in the accompanying photographs are R. H. McMillan, Alberta Poultry Commissioner, standing, and G. R. Milne, Poultry Supervisor for the Department of Agriculture, as Mr. McMillan takes weight readings of test flock eggs and Mr. Milne checks albumen height. TIME TO FIGHT CANCER

This is Cancer Crusade Month, the annual occasion for the Canadian Cancer Society's Crusade. That great public service organization is the only national voluntary health agency fighting cancer on three fronts... through research designed to find new methods of cure for this disease and eventually to conquer it, professional and public education, and service to cancer patients.

Momentous strides are being made in the attack on man's cruellest enemy. In the last twenty years more progress has been made in understanding cancer than in all the previous history of mankind. This is largely due to the fine assistance volunteers in the April Crusade, both men and women, have given to the Canadian Cancer Society. There are nearly half a million Cancer Crusaders, over five thousand of them in Alberta.

More people die of cancer each year, but more are being saved from it. Until the spring of 1956, statisticians estimated that one in four men, women and children on the North American continent who had cancer was being cured. At the Third National Cancer Conference in Detroit, in June, 1956, it was disclosed that one in three was being saved. From one-in-four to one-in-three means that over 40,000 lives in Canada and the United States of America are being saved annually which would have been lost to cancer a decade ago. In all, about 13,000 are saved in this country each year. That is heartening, but physicians agree that one-in-two - half of this who develop cancer, or about 40,000 - could be saved by earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment.

The Society has led the way in the greatest attack ever launched against a single disease, and has devoted nearly $5,000,000 to research since World War II.

The Canadian Cancer Society is not a permanent organization. It is working hard to put itself out of business. It will last only until cancer is conquered. Public contributions to enable the Society to carry on its attack have mounted from less than $10,000 in 1944 to more than $2,000,000 in 1957. To continue this accelerating attack, the Society relies on its independent fund-raising and educational Crusade.

The 1958 goal - $2,484,000.

Certainly the Canadian Cancer Society, in seeking that goal, deserves all possible support from the public.

Educate Yourself

When I was very young I taught school, all the grades from one to eleven in a country classroom. Too many youngsters, too many grades. It might have been a frustrating experience had I not made a discovery that has served me well ever since.

Most children, and many adults, are capable of educating themselves if they know how. Fortunately, a normal school teacher, Mr. J. W. Gordon (I'll thank him to the end of my days) had told me the secret of self-education.

"You should know," he told our class one day, "that education is an inner process, a personal process. It is not a matter of merely cramming heads with facts. It's a three-step process, always used by men like Alexander Bell, Edison, and other thought leaders. Teach your pupils to take these steps—observe, remember and compare."

That was back in 1929, and it was something that stuck with me when I faced a classroom of assorted sizes in which some of the smaller ones couldn't even speak English. I soon had to devise ways to keep them all busy and learning on their own, for I couldn't split myself up into enough parts to be teaching them individually.

I remember sending a lad from Grade 9 out for a pail of water, so that he could then come in and write out in detail how he thought the water was brought to the surface. That lad did quite a bit of thinking that day, I'll tell you, and from his own observation, memory and some thoughtful comparison, he learned more science from the pump that I had time to teach him. At night, after school, I spent a great deal of time thinking up questions; for I discovered that if I asked the right questions, the students built answers they remembered and understood. I am afraid too many teachers content themselves with giving students a lot of answers, instead of directing them to think through to the answers on their own.

This year, I am glad to say, my own youngsters have excellent teachers. Our encyclopedia is getting a real going over. Some scientific experiments (sometimes to the chagrin of my wife) are being undertaken at our kitchen sink.

Questions are flying, and at the dinner table the old man has been stumped a few times, but it has perked us all up — and I feel my children are now getting a real education.

They'll need it in this modern world. A man who cannot observe, remember and compare is putty in the hands of politicians or salesmen. He will fail for the sheerest nonsense handed out as pure logic. But a self-educated man is no blotter for every new kind of political cantology urged upon him; he observes, remembers and compares.

New Ruling On Permits For Banquets

Edmonton, Alta. (cp) — A seven-day waiting period for banquet liquor licenses will go into effect April 1st.

Under a change in provincial liquor regulations, all applications for such licenses now will have to be cleared by the liquor control board office in Edmonton.

The board will then mail out the license if it is granted.

As at present, the application is first made to any government liquor store. However, the application now will have to be reviewed by the liquor board instead of being subject to the approval of the nearest police office.

Have You a Question On Unemployment Insurance?

In this column we publish questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Following are some questions and answers which may be of interest to you:

Q—My husband is in the RCMP, and is frequently moved around. I have to move with him. Sometimes he is near a city and sometimes not. I am a computer operator and I don't want any other employment for fear of losing my skill. At present I am not employed. Can I claim benefit?

A—By limiting yourself to acceptance of employment only as a computer operator you may be disqualified as not being available for work, particularly as in some of the places to which you move such work is non-existent.

Q—I had to leave my job this winter because of sickness. Now I am told I cannot collect even though I have always paid in. Why is this?

A—Payment of benefits may be continued to a person who falls ill, or becomes injured, or is quarantined, while already receiving benefit. Benefit is not paid to a person who loses his employment because of illness, etc., and is incapable of doing any work.

Q—If I am pensioned off from the place I work and receive a pension of $100 a month am I entitled to draw unemployment insurance?

A—Yes, provided you are able, ready and willing to work, and fulfill all the other conditions of entitlement to benefit.

Q—I have been out of work for some time and am drawing unemployment insurance benefit. My neighbor, who is ill has offered to pay me $10 a week to do some light work in his cellar. If I take the job can I still draw benefit?

A—Whether or not you will be able to draw benefit while working for your neighbor will depend on the hours worked, nature of the work and so on. It is suggested that you consult your local office, giving full particulars. In any event be sure to report to your local office all work you do while on benefit, and all earnings.

Q—For ten years I have been a carpenter, and I have my card. Last winter I worked for two months as a lumberjack. If I refuse to perform a similar job this winter will I be refused benefit?

A—If work as a lumberjack is considered by the insurance officer as suitable employment for you, having regard to your physical condition, age, past work history, etc., and you refuse such a job without good cause, you may be disqualified for a period up to six weeks.

Q—I have just been offered a job with the same employer for whom I last worked and with whom I could not get along. Will I be disqualified if I refuse this job?

A—This will depend upon whether or not the insurance officer considers the employment suitable and whether or not he considers that you have good cause for failure to accept the job. He will take into account your reasons for having separated from this employer previously and any changes which there may now be in the conditions of employment.

Q—Would you kindly let me know if a person who has worked during 14 weeks since March 27th, 1957, is entitled to seasonal benefit?

A—To qualify for seasonal benefit you must have had at least 15 contribution weeks since March 27, 1957. However, you can qualify for seasonal benefit this winter even though you have had less than 15 contribution weeks since March 25, if you had a regular benefit period that has ended after April 15, 1957.

Q—If a person is receiving Workmen's Compensation benefit for four or five weeks, does he have the right to unemployment insurance benefit?

A—The receipt of Workmen's Compensation gives rise to two questions. The first is whether the person is capable of work as required under the Act, and the second is whether the money received as Workmen's Compensation is to be taken into account as earnings in determining the amount of benefit payable. The answer to these questions depends on the particular circumstances existing in each case. It is therefore important that a claimant should advise the local office whenever he is in receipt of Workmen's Compensation so that the facts may be submitted to the insurance officer for a decision.

One of the tests that should be passed is what the flag is formed of. Putting together the flags of St. George, a red cross on a white background for England, St. Andrew, a white diagonal on a blue background for Scotland, and St. Patrick, a red diagonal on a white background for Ireland formed the Union Jack.

Frosted apples tasty dessert

Instead of having baked apples for dessert, home-makers might try frosted apples which are dressed up first with fruit and nut filling and a coating of coconut.

The recipe calls for six cooking apples, quarter cup butter, melted; six tablespoons sugar, six tablespoons desiccated coconut, three tablespoons chopped dates, or raisins, three tablespoons chopped nuts half cup sugar, half cup water.

Core and pare apples. Toss each apple in melted butter, then in sugar, and then in coconut. Place apples in baking dish and fill centres with a mixture of the dates and raisins and the nuts, allowing one tablespoon of mixture for each apple.

Combine the half cup of sugar and water and bring to a boil, then spoon syrup over apples. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) until apples are tender when tested with a skewer 30 to 35 minutes.

Name selection spurs business

MONTREAL, Que. (cp) — An enterprising resort owner in the Laurentians makes a hobby of hringing together people with the same surnames.

It started last summer when, Roger Cabana, owner of the Bonmaine Cabanae at St. Hippolyte, Que., noticed large numbers of week-end motorists driving aimlessly about the countryside.

He decided to do something for such wanderers and to help promote the tourist trade in and around his community, 45 miles north of Montreal.

As a start he sent 1500 letters to people with the typically French Canadian surnames of Archambault and Asselin, inviting them to spend a Sunday at his estate.

Free snacks, drinks, and entertainment by Montreal artists were offered as added inducements.

It worked. People bearing the same surnames came and often met relatives for the first time.

The first meeting, was followed by a gathering of the Beauchamps and Belangers. Meeting of the Carous and the Charbonneaus and of the Desjardins and Dupuis' are planned for this year.

Mr. Cabana declines to say whether he will ever attempt to bring together the Smiths and the Jones.

Fireman's Lot Also, Not a Happy One

A current fire-fighter tribute by an anonymous author, consoles the smoke-eaters.

When the fire trucks are delayed 40 seconds in traffic, people say: "It took them 20 minutes to get here."

When the truck races at 40 m.p.h. it's "look at those reckless fools."

When four men struggle with an eight-man ladder: "They don't even know how to raise a ladder."

When greenmen open windows for ventilation to reduce heat in fighting a fire: "Look at the wrecking crew."

When they open the floor to go at the blaze: "There goes the as-squid."

If the chief stands back where he can see and direct his men, people say: "He's afraid to go where he sends his men."

If they lose a building: "It's a lousy department."

If they make a good "stop" folks say: "They are doing more damage with water than the flames."

If a fireman gets hurt: "He was a careless guy."

If a citizen gets hurt: "It's a crazy department."

If a fireman inspects a citizen's property: "He's meddling in somebody's business."

If he wants a fire hazard corrected: "I'll see the mayor."

If he gets killed and leaves a family destitute: "That's the chance he took when he joined the fire department."

"Tide Rips" (By Jim Brahan)

Saluting in today's armed forces is only an act of courtesy, but in ancient times it was carried out for a definite purpose.

During the era of heavily armored knights, it was the custom when two of them met to raise their visors. This proved them to be friendly towards one another, because when their visors were open both parties were vulnerable to attack.

However, loosening up a visor with a hand encased in an iron glove was no small chore, and eventually the raising of the hand to the helmet as if to open the eyepiece was considered sufficient to prove peaceful intentions. The open hand in the salute proved they had no weapon, such as a brain piercing stiletto concealed in their fist.

The naval salute with the hand came into being in almost recent times. It was officially introduced into the Royal Navy in 1890. Prior to this time it was the custom for sailors to remove their hats in salute to a senior.

Queen Victoria instituted the hand personal salute in the Navy. This happened when she sent for certain officers and men to thank them for rendering help to a distressed German ship. After thanking them the queen stated that she did not like to see men in uniform standing with their hats off.

The age-old custom of saluting the quarterdeck of a ship is sometimes claimed to be done because in olden times they used to carry a crucifix there. More likely this action is carried out because the quarterdeck is the seat of authority and the position nearest to which the Regent's colors are displayed. Some authorities on naval traditions doubt any custom based on saluting the crucifix would have survived the many religious upheavals to which England has been subjected through the centuries.

Darwin's Mistake

Three monkeys sat in a cocoanut tree.

Discussing things as they're said to be.

Said one to the others, now listen you two.

There's certain rumor that can't be true.

That man descended from our noble race.

The very idea is a disgrace.

No monkey ever deserted his wife.

Starved her babies and ruined her life.

And you have never known a mother monk.

To leave her babies with others to hunk,

Or pass them on from one to another.

'Til they scarcely know who is their mother.

Another thing you will never see.

A monkey build a fence around a cocoanut tree.

And let the cocoanuts go to waste.

Forbidding all other monks to taste.

Why if I put a fence around this tree.

Starvation would force you to steal from me.

There's another thing a monk won't do.

Go out at night and get on a stew.

Or use a gun or club or knife.

To take some other monkey's life.

Yes, man descended, the ornery cuss.

But brother, he didn't descend from us.

Modern camper has many aids

TOBACCO, Ont. (cp) — "Roughing it" in the bush is hardly the term any more. Unless you're a glutton for punishment, it just isn't necessary.

The major trend to outdoor camping which has developed in Canada in the past 10 years has created a multi-million dollar market and manufacturers have come up with an array of labor-saving devices which the old-time woodsman never dreamed of.

The latest of these were on display at the Canadian National Sportsman's show here.

A tent of light nylon puts itself up as camp stoves light without pumping or priming. Dehydrated foods pack into handy, lightweight packages. Glass fibre canoes can be carried by a girl.

In a bid for the ladies' attention, sleeping bags have erupted into blaring colors. There are two-tones with floral design linings and special pockets for combs, cosmetics or what-have-you.

"We figure the women had a say in buying nearly two-thirds of the detailed outdoor camping gear sold last year," one exhibitor said.

While putting out sleeping bags in 20 colors this year and were ready to supply polka dot tents if they were asked."

Cancer...

Truth is the enemy of cancer. Fear is its ally. Public knowledge of cancer symptoms is the great weapon against this disease. If we all learn to recognize the danger signals of cancer... if we stand up to it and fight it, the battle is half won.

Help spread knowledge about cancer by supporting the 1958 Cancer Crusade. Your contribution helps pay for Cancer Research... Cancer Education and Cancer Welfare.
